

Air Quality & Health Benefits of Renewable Natural Gas in Sustainable Landscapes

The Integrated Climate & Air Impacts Research group (ICAIR) is seeking a graduate student at the Master's or Ph.D. levels to help us understand the health and climate benefits of renewable energy transitions powered by the land. Students will have an interest in atmospheric issues and modelling, with a background in environmental engineering or a related field. Collaborate with the Biogas Team in Solutionscapes!

Admission is applicable to Fall, Winter, and Spring admissions. Evaluation of applications will begin on February 1, 2024 and will be rolling after that.

Information on applying as a Master's student here, and as a PhD student here. For more information about applying contact Dr. Rebecca Saari at rebecca.saari@uwaterloo.ca.

Our commitment to reconciliation, equity, diversity, and inclusion

The University of Waterloo acknowledges that much of our work takes place on the traditional territory of the Neutral, Anishinaabeg and Haudenosaunee peoples. Our main campus is situated on the Haldimand Tract, the land granted to the Six Nations that includes six miles on each side of the Grand River. Our active work toward reconciliation takes place across our campuses through research, learning, teaching, and community building, and is coordinated within the Office of Indigenous Relations. The University values the diverse and intersectional identities of its students, faculty, and staff. The University regards equity and diversity as an integral part of academic excellence and is committed to accessibility for all employees. The University of Waterloo seeks applicants who embrace our values of equity, anti-racism and inclusion. As such, we encourage applications from candidates who have been historically disadvantaged and marginalized, including applicants who identify as First Nations, Métis and/or Inuk (Inuit), Black, racialized, a person with a disability, women and/or 2SLGBTQ+.

The University of Waterloo is committed to accessibility for persons with disabilities. If you have any application, interview, or workplace accommodation requests, please contact Human Resources at hrhelp@uwaterloo.ca or 519-888-4567, ext. 45935.
